Preface

In presenting the Silver Jubilee Souvenir of Asutosh College, I must offer a word of apology for the delay in bringing it out. The uncertain conditions created by the War and the scarcity of printing papers gave rise to considerable difficulties and delayed the publication by several months. It was only with the help of Mr. Sailendra Nath Guha Ray, of Sree Saraswaty Press and an ex-student of our College, that the difficulties could be overcome.

My thanks are due to all those who have helped me with their suggestions during its preparation. No one but myself is, however, responsible for the errors and omissions.

OUR PRESIDENT

77 Asutosh Mookerjee Road
Calcutta
20. 12. 1941

For a quarter of a century Asutosh College has served the youth of Bengal to the best of its ability. Our ideal is not merely to maintain efficiently an institution that will be the home of academic learning, but also to develop the mind and body of our alumni to as to fit them for active national service. To fight the battle of life there must be a correct appreciation of the realities of the situation. The country needs today more than ever an army of undaunted youths, capable of offering their very best to the cause of its progress. Good conduct, character, discipline and loyalty to the ideals of this College can only develop if there is a true spirit of co-operation among the various elements that constitute this College. On this occasion I confidently call upon everyone to do all he can to make our College worthy of the great name it bears.

THE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE C. C. BISWAS, M.A., B.L., C.I.E.
Vice-President, Governing Body

On the occasion of its Silver Jubilee, I send Asutosh College my warmest greetings and good wishes. I throw back my mind more than 25 years ago when the L.M.S. Institution in Bhowanipore closed its doors, and a wide gap was left in the educational facilities which had up to then existed in South Calcutta. With courage and vision, the authorities of the South Suburban School, under the inspiring leadership of Sir Asutosh Mookerjee, resolved at once to step into the breach. Anxious to move cautiously, the promoters of the new institution applied in the first instance only for an Intermediate College. In this they had the backing of the University, but little had they reckoned with the tin-gods who sat on the hill tops to shape the educational destinies of the country. To the bewilderment of all, ancient records were raked up to show that second-grade colleges were an academic monstrosity. A battle royal had to be waged for one long year before the opposition was finally vanquished. Asutosh College celebrating its Silver Jubilee to-day stands forth as the strongest vindication of the principles its original sponsors had stood for.

Started in 1916 as an Intermediate College, it did not take long to raise itself to the B. A. standard. In two years' time in fact, it became a First-grade College with Pass affiliation in all the major subjects. The history of the College ever since has been one of continuous expansion, and it is no mean achievement that without a single pice of Government aid for the purpose, it has found for itself a habitation of its own in stately buildings, where its crowded classes not only proclaim the growing popularity of the institution, but afford the surest guarantee of its future.

May Asutosh College increase from strength to strength, and may students and teachers all combine to build up within its walls the finest traditions of character and academic efficiency.

THE HON'BLE MR. P. N. BANERJEE, M.A., B.L., P.R.S., BARRISTER-AT-LAW, M.L.A., MINISTER, GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, Ex-Secretary, Governing Body.

On the auspicious occasion of the Silver Jubilee Celebration of the Asutosh College, Bhowanipore, I send my message of good-will and congratulations to the managers as also the teachers and the students of the College.

More than twentyfive years ago some of the leading educationists of Bhowanipore banded together to establish a college at Bhowanipore. South Calcutta was then smarting under the acquisition clause of the Improvement Trust Act. It did not yet realise the benefit of an extended southern Calcutta. The College was founded as a second grade college in humble surroundings in a rented house at No. 26, Lansdowne Road. Far from the din and the dust of the tramway traffic, the College lived in a humble rented home. It owed its recognition to the University of Calcutta and to Sir Sankaran Nair, who was then the Education Member to the Government of India. The first application for affiliation was, in due course, rejected by the Government on the advice of Sir Henry Sharp whose friendship with the University of Calcutta and education in general was quite well-known. The College, after its foundation, attracted many students of the south suburban area of the city, and was soon raised to the status of a first grade college. Shortly thereafter, the College changed its habitation, and occupied the premises next to the present Chittaranjan Seva Sadan of Bhowanipore. The premises belonged to the Bijni Estate. The Estate, under the managership of Mr. R. C. Sen, Barrister-at-Law, charged a small rent of Rs. 200/- a month. Mr. Sen is no longer amongst us, but his kindness to the infant institution should be recognised by all.

The College changed its name when a great tragedy fell upon the University and this country on the 25th May, 1924. At a meeting of the Governing Body of the College, Mr. C. C. Biswas (now Mr. Justice C. C. Biswas) had a brain-wave. He proposed that the College should have a building of its own. The land on which the present magnificent building of the College stands, was acquired chiefly through the exertions of Mr. Biswas, Mr. Ramaprasad Mookerjee, and Mr. Santosh Kumar Basu, and many other members of the Calcutta Corporation. The thanks of the College are also due to the founders of the Cottage Library, Bhowanipore. It amalgamated itself with the College. The present grandeur of the College is due as much to the honest efforts of our veteran Principal Mr. Sinha and his own colleagues as to the untiring energy and zeal of the present President of its Governing Body, Dr. Syamaprasad Mookerjee. Public subscription to the amount of Rs. 2,20,127/- was raised for the erection and the equipment of the building and the library of the College. The Professors helped the authorities of the College in liquidating their obligation to the architects and the builders by allowing a loan of Rs. 25,000/- from out of their Provident Fund. This is a patriotic effort which requires recognition from all interested in the welfare of this institution. The College now has on its roll about two thousand students. The girls' section of the College has proved a great success.

My connection with the institution began in 1916—now more than quarter of a century ago. During the formative years of this institution I was connected with the professorial staff of the college. I then had the privilege of serving this institution as Joint Secretary, and Secretary, for about a dozen years. I hope, the infant institution of 1916, which has now reached age, will gather further strength, and will carve out for itself a warm corner in the affection of the educated public.

I cannot conclude this message without offering my personal appreciation of the sacrifice which has been all along made by my distinguished friend Principal Panchanan Sinha. He is the founder-Principal of the College. He has devoted the best years of his life in the service of the College. The greatness of the College has been one of his cherished dreams. The debt of the College to him is a debt which I believe cannot be repaid.

To the students of the College I say in all earnestness that they must bear in mind that they are the inheritors of the unfulfilled renown of a great name, and that they have, in the years to come, the arduous task of holding high the banner of this College. I wish them good luck and god-speed. The institution is theirs. May it flourish with their efforts and the efforts of those who had the proud privilege of once being students of this institution.

MR. N. C. CHATTERJEE, M.A., B.L., BARRISTER-AT-LAW, COUNCILLOR, CALCUTTA CORPORATION.
Secretary, Governing Body

Asutosh College seeks not merely to turn out Graduates but seeks to inspire the boys and girls who enter the portals of the Institution with the lofty ideals of Sir Asutosh Mookerjee, the greatest Educationist of modern India. Some of the local Christian Colleges were closed down and South Calcutta was badly in need of a well-equipped College. Thanks to the foresight of Sir Asutosh Mookerjee, the College had the good fortune to secure the services of a band of selfless workers headed by Principal Panchanan Sinha who was associated with the movement of National Education since the Swadeshi days. Due to the generosity of the Calcutta Corporation we were able to secure a splendid site for the College and the whole of India including Nepal, Bhopal, Sonepur and the Wadia and Tata Trusts of Bombay responded to our appeal for funds for the erection of a suitable Asutosh Memorial. The Cottage Library and the Bhowanipur Institute were incorporated in the Memorial Scheme and we have now a splendid College Building, a fine Asutosh Library and a Public Hall where Young Bengal has the privilege to listen to the discourses of distinguished savants from all parts of the world.

The College has now 2200 students on its rolls including about 500 girls and there is a well-equipped Gymnasium, a modern Library and an up-to-date Laboratory. The College seeks to develop the personality of the students and to equip them for the battle of life.

We trust all lovers of education will extend their good wishes for the continued progress of the Asutosh College and it is our fervent wish and prayer that the students of this College will make their contribution to the building up of a greater and more glorious Bengal.

A SHORT HISTORY

The initiative for the foundation of the College was taken in February, 1915, by Sir Asutosh Mookerjee, the President of the General Committee of the South Suburban group of Schools, Bhowanipore.

The abolition of the University departments by the Bishop's College and the London Missionary Society's Institution had made the demand for a properly equipped institution for Collegiate education in South Calcutta almost imperative. The objects of the founders were thus set forth in their application for affiliation to the University, dated the 12th February, 1915:—

"That such an institution is an absolute desideratum within this area must be apparent to all who are aware of the conditions prevailing here and of the difficulties, financial and otherwise, which the students of those places have to experience in having to prosecute their collegiate studies in the already overcrowded colleges in the town proper. The public of Bhowanipore and the adjacent areas accordingly approached the Committee of the South Suburban School some time ago with a request that steps should be taken to raise the status of the School to that of at least a Second Grade College, and thus supply the most pressing educational need of the locality."

Unfortunately, however, the first opposition to the establishment of the College came from quarters from where it was least expected, viz., the Government of India. The authorities of the proposed College had indeed great difficulty in persuading the Government that Second Grade Colleges did fulfil a definite function in the educational system of the country, and that it was a mistake to suppose that the view of the Indian Universities Commission of 1904, condemning the affiliation of such colleges, had been endorsed in its entirety by the Government of India of the time. The protracted controversy on the subject delayed the affiliation of the College by one year. In July, 1915, the promoters of the Institution were informed by the Private Secretary to His Excellency the Rector (Lord Carmichael, the then Governor of Bengal) that "the Government of India were unable to give any assurance of the grant of affiliation from the current session." It was only in the last week of May 1916, that the Government could be prevailed upon to give final orders for affiliation upto the Intermediate Standard in English, Vernacular Composition, Sanskrit, History, Logic, Mathematics and Botany. The promoters forthwith proceeded to make the necessary arrangements for the opening of the College in June following.

The administration of the College was vested in a Governing Body, subject to the supervision of the General Committee of the South Suburban School, composed of fifty representatives of the local public. The General Committee sanctioned a grant of Rupees Ten Thousand to be placed at the disposal of the Governing Body for meeting the initial expenses of the College. Under the rules sanctioned by the General Committee at their meeting held on the 24th March, 1915, the Governing Body of the College was to be composed of ten members, eight of whom were to be elected annually by the General Committee, the two other members being the Principal, ex-officio, and a representative of the Teaching Staff, elected annually by the teachers themselves.

The FIRST GOVERNING BODY was constituted as follows:—

1. The Hon'ble Justice Sir Asutosh Mookerjee, Saraswati, Sastra-Vachaspati, Sambuddhagama-Chakravartti, Kt., C.S.I., M.A., D.L., D.Sc., Ph.D., F.R.A.S., F.R.S.E., F.A.S.B.

"That the College be named the SOUTH SUBURBAN COLLEGE, BHOWANIPORE."

By another resolution it was decided to locate it in premises No. 26, Lansdowne Road, which was to be taken on lease for a period of two years from June, 1916, at a rental of Rs. 250/- per month plus the occupier's share of the taxes.

9. „ N. Chakravarti, B.A. (Cal.), B.Sc. (Ohio).

Though it was originally intended to open the College on the 3rd July, 1916, the actual opening had to be deferred till The Seventeenth of July, from which date regular lectures in the First Year and Second Year Classes commenced. There were altogether 288 students on the Rolls in the first academic session—183 in the First Year Class, and 105 in the Second Year Class.

The success of the Institution in the very first year of its existence was so remarkable that next year the authorities felt justified in removing the College to the more spacious and more commodious premises at 147, Russa Road, South, known as "The Bijni House", which occupied a central position with regard to the areas the College was primarily intended to serve.

The experience gained within the very first year of the life of the College was sufficient to convince the Governing Body that the provision for B.A. classes in the Institution could no longer be deferred without serious detriment to the cause of higher education in the South Suburban areas of Calcutta, which were developing remarkably under the new schemes of the Calcutta Improvement Trust. Affiliation up to the B.A. Pass Standard was accordingly applied for in October, 1917, and this was sanctioned with effect from the commencement of the session 1918-19 in the following subjects:—English, Vernacular Composition, Sanskrit, Mental and Moral Philosophy, History, Political Economy and Political Philosophy, and Mathematics. Since then there has been steady progress in the expansion of the activities of the College. Affiliation up to the B.A. Honours Standard in English and Philosophy was obtained in 1920-21, and Intermediate Science Classes were opened with effect from 1922-23, while B.Sc. classes were started in 1925-26. At present the College enjoys affiliation up to the Honours Standard in almost all the important and popular subjects including English, Sanskrit, Philosophy, History, Economics, Mathematics, Bengali, Physics and Chemistry. The College has been a pioneer institution in imparting instructions in subjects like Geography, that were being newly included in the curriculum of the University, but for the teaching of which no provision was made in any of the colleges of Bengal.

In May, 1924, the College, while still in its formative period, suffered an irreparable loss in the death of its Founder-President, Sir Asutosh Mookerjee, and as a mark of respect to the memory of its illustrious Founder, the Governing Body of the College at its meeting held on June 15, 1924, decided on the unanimous recommendation of the General Committee of the South Suburban School, to name it as "ASUTOSH COLLEGE, BHOWANIPORE".

The Corporation of Calcutta very generously placed at the disposal of the Sir Asutosh Memorial Committee a plot of land, measuring one bigha and fourteen cottahs, to the North of the Hazra Park, to raise a fitting Memorial to the Late Sir Asutosh Mookerjee. It was on this site that the magnificent buildings to accommodate the Asutosh College and the Memorial Institute, with the Public Library and Hall, were constructed at a cost of Rs. 2,14,469/-. The College, which continued its existence in the "Bijni House" for nearly two decades, was thus removed to its own building just opposite the old site. The new building contains ample accommodation for well over 2000 students. It commands a beautiful view of the Hazra Park, and has a quiet grandeur that entitles it to be reckoned among the notable edifices of this "City of Palaces."

The pressing demand for adequate provision for women's education in South Calcutta led the authorities of Asutosh College, conscious as they ever have been of the requirements of the situation, to open the Women's Department, which was formally inaugurated in June, 1932. A special feature of this department is that classes are held in the morning and are thus entirely separate from the Boys' Department. The classes for women students are held in the morning from 7-15 A.M. to 11-30 A.M., when the girls can move about freely in the College premises, and can take full advantage of all the facilities, academic and extra-academic, provided in the College.

It is noteworthy that the contribution of Asutosh College to the dissemination of learning has been quite in keeping with the remarkable growth of South Calcutta during the quarter of a century that the Institution has been in existence. During this period profound changes have taken place in the southern districts of Calcutta, which are being increasingly and rapidly resorted to for purposes of residence and settlement by people from all over Bengal. The once sparsely populated areas like Ballygunge, Tollygunge, Shahnagar, Kalighat, Bhowanipore, Kidderpore and Alipore have suddenly grown into a new life, as it were. South Calcutta has lost its local character and has become rather the epitome of progressive Bengal. It reflects no small credit on the authorities and the Staff of Asutosh College that while serving the needs of South Calcutta, they have readily responded to the growing demands of the enlightened elements of the premier Province of India. The College has indeed held aloft the torch of learning, and has definitely contributed to the advancement of knowledge.

SOME FEATURES

The Asutosh College has all along tried to live up to the ideal of its great Founder-President that education should not be denied to any deserving student on the ground of poverty. A number of stipends and scholarships are annually granted to poor and meritorious students, and the College has very often forgone its dues in order to enable poor and helpless students to appear in the University Examinations. The initiative in this direction was taken at the instance of Mr. Pramathanath Banerjee, Barrister-at-Law and Principal, University Law College, Calcutta who had voluntarily placed his services at the disposal of the College for some time during the days of its early struggle and had made a donation of the entire amount of Rs. 1,200/- offered to him as honorarium in order that it might serve as a nucleus for the "Students' Distress Fund", out of which poor and deserving students were to be helped towards meeting a part of their examination expenses. The example thus set inspired the College authorities to start a "Poor Students' Fund", in order to help poor and meritorious students in the prosecution of their studies. The College has given a lead in the right direction by starting with the help of this Fund a "Poor Students' Library" at a capital grant of Rs. 1,000/-, which is being annually supplemented to meet the growing needs of the students. Text-Books and books of general interest are lent from this Library for long periods to students who are too poor to purchase them.

The College Library contains no less than 12,000 volumes. It is situated in the ground floor of the main College Building, with the entire Hazra Park to its south, and every attempt is made to maintain a proper atmosphere of study in the Library Hall. Students are provided with chairs and small tables to facilitate studies according to individual requirements. A special feature of the Library is that it is kept open till 9 o'clock at night, so that the students who are really in earnest may carry on their studies in peaceful and quiet surroundings, which it may not be possible for them to obtain elsewhere. The Library is also provided with a large number of up-to-date journals, Indian and Foreign, to which additions are being constantly made. The grant for the Library from College Funds exceeds Rs. 2,500/- per annum.

Besides the Library and the Reading Room, the College has a Students' Common Room, liberally supplied with magazines, newspapers and light literature. It is managed by the College Union, under the supervision of a Professor-in-charge. The large number of students, who visit the Common Room every day, during their hours of leisure, testifies to its utility and also to its popularity among the students.

The Laboratories of the College are housed in well-equipped and commodious rooms, and are furnished with up-to-date apparatus and a fairly large stock of contingencies for conducting experiments and practical work in Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Geography, Zoology and Biology. There are two Balance Rooms and a Dark Room attached to the Physics and Chemistry Departments. The WORKSHOP connected with the Physics Laboratory has already proved its utility by turning out many fine scientific instruments and serves as a training ground for those students, who may in future take up the course of Applied Physics. An Industrial Section has been opened as an annexe to the B.Sc. Department, in order to encourage students to adopt different industrial occupations in life. If the Workshop and the Industrial Section succeed in relieving unemployment of even a handful of students, they will amply justify their existence.

The facilities provided by the College and the care taken by it for the intellectual development of its students have given results of which any institution can legitimately feel proud. The percentage of passes in the University Examinations has been uniformly high, and compares very favourably with that of the best colleges of Bengal. Its students have very often been placed high up in the lists in the I.A. and I.Sc. Examinations, and its record in the B.A. Honours Examinations has been really noteworthy. Some of its alumni have achieved further distinction by original Research work, which has earned them the Premchand Raychand Studentships and Doctorate Degrees of the Calcutta University and of foreign Universities.

Appendix 'E' will illustrate the fluctuation in the number of students of the College, leading ultimately to its present numerical strength, and Appendix 'F' will give an idea of the results in the different Examinations of the University.

The College has all along believed that healthy minds can develop only in healthy bodies. It has, therefore, been unremitting in its zeal to promote the physical well-being of the students. With that object in view it has established a well-equipped Gymnasium, which is now in charge of two highly qualified Instructors, who take personal interest in the physical development of the students. Persons trained in this Gymnasium have acquitted themselves very creditably in Inter-Collegiate and other All-Bengal and All-India competitions and have succeeded in winning a large number of medals and trophies. The utility of the Gymnasium can be realized from the fact that students, who once got accustomed to take their exercise in it, have continued to attend it regularly for years, even after the completion of their academic career.

Ample provisions have been made for popular Outdoor Games, like Football, Hockey, Cricket, Basket Ball, Volley Ball etc. The College Football Team has won the Championship of the Inter-Collegiate Football League for two consecutive years in 1940 and 1941. The Basketball team of the College has held the Trophies of the Inter-Collegiate League and Knock-out Tournaments for several years. Members of the College Basketball Team were chosen to represent Bengal in the Olympic Games organised in Bombay in 1939. Besides holding Annual Sports for its students, the College has all along been well represented in the Inter-Collegiate Sports, and its achievements in this field have been quite commendable. It won the Championships in Inter-Collegiate Cross-Country Cycle Competition and Inter-Collegiate Walking Competition in 1940. One student of this College set up a record in Pole Vault in Bengal, while another is at present holding the record in Inter-Collegiate One-Mile Race.

The College has taken full advantage of the proximity of the Lakes, and it has been one of the earliest institutions to organise a Rowing Club of its own. In this department too, the achievement of the College has been quite laudable, and it has succeeded in winning the Inter-Collegiate League Championship in Rowing twice in its career.

For the benefit of the general body of the students, the College has made Drill compulsory for the First and Third Year classes. Drill classes are held regularly under a competent Instructor, who has had considerable experience of military service. Light Refreshments are generally supplied to all students who take an active part in any of the various branches of physical exercise provided by the College.

The Bratachari Society of this College is admittedly the best known of its kind in India. It was inaugurated under the direct inspiration of the late Mr. G. S. Dutt of the Indian Civil Service, the Founder of the Movement, who used to take special interest in the Bratachari activities of the members of this College. The attainments of the Bratacharis of this College have been so highly appreciated that their services have been invariably requisitioned for purposes of instructive demonstrations all over India.

The College has been one of the earliest to take full advantage of the facilities for Military Training provided by the University Training Corps, and has supplied two efficient and thoroughly well-disciplined Platoons to the U. T. C. The Officers and Cadets attached to this College have given a good account of themselves in rifle and revolver practice in camps, and tactics, in parades and military sports, and have won a number of prizes and trophies. In recognition of all these the military authorities have sanctioned the College to be a centre of Parade. The reputation won by the College in military training is due in no small measure to the whole-hearted devotion of the late lamented PROFESSOR Lt. AJIT KUMAR GHOSH, M.A., B.L., who was one of the pioneers in the movement for promoting military education in Bengal.

The St. John Ambulance Division of the College has won a distinct place for itself. It is run by a band of devoted and unassuming young men who have rendered valuable service in First Aid and Relief Work in Calcutta and outside.

The College has been quite conscious of the necessity for improving the health of the women students, and has made adequate arrangements for the purpose. By courtesy of the Calcutta Corporation, a part of the Hazra Park has been reserved exclusively for the women students of this College to be used as their playground during morning hours. There is a trained Physical Instructress to guide the students in athletics and sports. The keen interest taken by the women students of this College is evident from the fact that quite a large number of them have annually taken part in Women's Inter-Collegiate Sports, and some of them have succeeded in winning the highest prizes and trophies.

Space will not permit a detailed description of the many corporate associations that have developed in the College during the last twenty-five years. Mention must, however, be made of some of the more important bodies that have made their mark in the life of the College. There is a College Council, which consists of all members of the Teaching Staff, with the Principal as the President, ex-officio. The Council helps the Principal with its deliberations on internal administration and on academic matters. The Professors' Club, which has been in existence for the last five years, has proved to be very valuable in developing and fostering social life among the members of the Staff. It has also been a useful medium for an informal exchange of views between members of the Staff and those of the Governing Body, who are generally invited in the functions organised by the Club. Persons of eminence are occasionally invited by the Club to discuss with its members subjects of special interest.

The members of the Staff have organised a Co-operative Credit Society. The Society has at present limited its functions to banking operations only, but has proved to be a very popular institution, as is evident from the number of its members who take a lively and active interest in its affairs. It is expected that the Society will soon expand its activities in various other directions, so as to bring the blessings of co-operation to the the doors of all sections of people connected with the College.

The College Union is a students' body, which acts under the guidance of a Professor, and has to its credit a good deal of useful work in developing healthy, corporate activities among its members. Organisation of debates, socials, dramatic performances, relief work, and administration of the Students' Poor Fund are among its varied functions. Excursion parties have formed a prominent feature of the social life of the College in recent years. Apart from social excursions, the College has encouraged various educational excursions, scientific and historical, and has rendered valuable financial assistance to ensure their success. These excursions are conducted under the guidance of some members of the Teaching Staff. The College has all along tried to develop an atmosphere of all round culture among its students. Exhibitions of works of art and painting have now become an annual feature, while students of this College have the distinction of winning the CHAMPIONSHIP IN INTER-COLLEGIATE MUSIC COMPETITION twice in recent years.

The Ex-Students' Association of this College is perhaps the most living organisation of its kind in Bengal. It was started in 1935 with a view to providing opportunities for the renewal of old friendship, and strengthening the bond between the Old Students and their Alma Mater. The Association has already succeeded in attracting a large number of members. The meetings and social functions organised by it are characterised by a freshness and warmth of feeling rarely found in similar associations in this country. It has completed and published a Register of Ex-Students, and has helped in securing substantial financial aid to the Building Fund of the College.

In 1941 the College completed twenty-five years of its existence, and the Silver Jubilee of the Institution was celebrated in a befitting manner during the Foundation Week. The celebrations were marked by great enthusiasm on the part of all connected with the College. Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee, President of the Governing Body, addressed the Staff and students of the College, and laid stress on the ideals set forth by the Founders. Dr. Mookerjee, in course of his address, announced the foundation of several "Jubilee Scholarships" to be awarded to meritorious and deserving students in commemoration of the Silver Jubilee.

The brief sketch of the activities of the College, as outlined above, will, it is hoped, prove that the College has devoted the twenty-five years of its life in rendering useful service to the society, and that the experiment that was started at the instance of the late Sir Asutosh Mookerjee has been amply jusified by the results. Inspite of occasional vicissitudes through which the College, like all other living institutions, had to pass, its career during the quarter of a century has been one of steady progress. Its remarkable expansion in the past justifies the hope that with the blessings of its illustrious Founder-President, whose name it so appropriately bears, and to whose ideals it has dedicated itself, and with the good wishes of its many patrons and well-wishers, it will march forward towards greater progress, and will be a potent factor in dispelling the darkness of ignorance by extending the bounds of knowledge and culture to all, irrespective of creed and community.
